■ 4 -6 CLASSES

- People have always been deeply interested in anything that
- cannot be easily explained. Belief in supernatural phenomena
- has taken on many forms throughout the years and has
- largely depended on the cultural context, but it has been with
- us forever. From the belief in necromancy in ancient Egypt,
- through witch hunts in the Middle Ages, to today's paranormal
- mockumentaries, the supernatural has always been around.
- In contemporary Western culture, interest in magic and all
- things unexplained is maintained or fantasy films are released, and in the USA ,
- sales of Halloween-related products reach 6-7 billion of dollars every year. And
- that number includes 330 mln of dollars spent on pets costumes alone.
- Although Halloween is a global phenomenon, it is not celebrated all around the - world in its commercialised form of course.
- As far as we know, however, every culture has its own way to celebrate that day.
